Waveland millage reduced, condo variance approved

By DENA BISNETTE

Millage in Waveland will go down next year, but whether it will stay down is still an open question.

According to Mayor John Longo Jr., the current millage rate in Waveland is 28 mills. Due to the recent property reassessment in the county, the new millage rate will drop to 16 mills.

The millage breaks down into 13 mills for the city general fund and three mills for repayment of a disaster loan Waveland received after Hurricane Camille.

Longo said the millage could be raised for the 1985-86 fiscal year if it does not generate sufficient revenue but said no further change is anticipated during the coming fiscal year.

The millage was set and approved by the Waveland Board of Aldermen at its Wednesday night meeting.

In other business Wednesday, the board granted approval of a variance for a proposed condominium between Coleman Avenue and St. Joseph Street to Panorama, Inc.

The variance requested will allow construction 15 feet from Coleman Avenue rather than 25 feet from the street as specified by the city zoning ordinance.

No zoning change was requested because the property is already zoned R-3, which allows for construction of multi-family dwellings including apartments and condominiums.

About 15 people who support the condominium project attended the meeting and left after the variance was approved.

In a related matter, the alderman agreed to consider a request that St.

Joseph Street be made a one-way street.

The aldermen also appointed Helen Almond as librarian for the Waveland City Library. The new librarian has worked at both the Waveland and Kiln libraries and replaces Mildred Means.

The board also accepted a letter from the Bourgeois-Stieffel-Ray American Legion Post into its minutes. The letter endorses a proposed marina project at Bayou Cadet.

Electric service interruption set for Friday in Waveland

Mississippi Power Company has scheduled an interruption of electric service in Waveland Friday, Sept. 28, from 9 to 11 a.m., according to Bernard Jacob, the utility's Bay St. Louis area supervisor.

The outage will affect customers north and south of Highway 90 from Waveland Avenue west to Asher's Store, from Highway 90 south on Lower Bay Road to and including Clermont Harbor and Buccaneer State Park, and from Highway 90 south on Waveland Avenue to Phillip Street, including Our Shopping Center.

"We will be working on equipment and rearranging circuits to provide more reliable electric service to the area," Jacob said.

If inclement weather prevents the crews from doing the work on Friday, it will be done Saturday, Sept. 29, at the same time.

Hancock schools need renovations architect says

By DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County School Board learned Saturday that additional renovations will be needed at five schools if a district-wide overcrowding problem is to be corrected.

The renovations are also necessary to provide classroom space when the kindergarten provision of the Educational Reform Act is implemented in 1986, Superintendent Terrell Randolph said at a special school board meeting Saturday.

Architect Fred Wagner, who was asked by the board in April to formulate a needs assessment, presented the results of his assessment in the form of drawing detailing the work to be done at Gulfview Elementary; Charles B. Murphy Elementary in Pearl River; and the elementary, junior high and high school on the Hancock North Central campus.

The improvements must be paid for with public funds, Randolph said, but a bond issue has not yet been considered. Randolph said he expects the board to take some type of action on funding the project at its Oct. 1 meeting.

The improvements at Murphy Elementary, according to Wagner, would cost about $655,000. They would include the addition of four classrooms and restrooms, a new library and administrative building, a covered area for bus loading, a paved asphalt driveway, and a utility shed.

Also included will be renovations on the existing office area and energy management improvements.

A total of 12 new classrooms, a new library, a new food service building, a paved car and bus area and covered walks would be included in the $1,766,000 in improvements needed at Gulfview if the district decides to undertake the project, Wagner said.

Also needed are alterations to the old office area and the original classroom building and energy management improvements.

New construction at Hancock North Central Elementary would allow expansion of the junior high and high school into space now used by the elementary classes, the architect said.

Included in new construction would be a six-classroom kindergarten building, a 13-classroom elementary facility, a six-classroom addition to the existing building, a library and a dining hall.

Additional site improvements, covered walks, drainage corrections and other renovations would bring the cost of the Hancock Elementary project to $2,403,000.

Motorist dies when thrown from vehicle

By DENA BISNETTE

George L. Smith, 41, of Rt. 2, Box 451-E, Bay St. Louis, died early Friday morning when he was thrown from a car in a one-vehicle accident on Ansley Road.

The accident occurred about two miles off US-90, according to Hancock County Sheriff's Deputy David Murtagh, who investigated the crash.

Smith's vehicle, a 1983 Mazda, was discovered in the woods near the Forestry Road at about 3:15 a.m. by a passing motorist who then notified authorities, according to Waveland Police Officer Jimmy Varnell.

Smith apparently ran off a curve near the Forestry Road, Murtagh said.

Varnell, who also responded to the scene, said Smith's car apparently became airborne and hit two trees at about six to eight feet above the ground.

The car traveled more than 100 feet into the woods after striking the trees, he said. Smith was thrown from the vehicle and was found dead about 23 feet away from the car.

The county coroner was called to the scene and ruled the death accidental.

Also reporting to the scene were Tommy Powell of the sheriff's department, Mike Seibert of the sheriff's department auxiliary and Mobile Medic.

Williams to retire as chief of police

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Bay St. Louis Chief of Police Douglas Williams announced on Thursday that he would retire at the end of September after 10 years with the department.

Williams was sworn in with the late William Tate on March 26, 1974, as the first two black Bay St. Louis police officers. Both had completed police training at the Mississippi State University prior to being hired.

When he first joined the department, Williams was a patrolman and Cyndi Glover and later became a patrolman. Williams was promoted to sergeant, then to captain, then to chief of police in 1981.

Williams' wife, Linda, is a retired police officer.

Williams' son, Larry, is a police officer in the New Orleans Police Department.

Chief would be named in the near future and plans to look within the department first for a replacement.

An acting chief will be named on Sept. 1. I have not even started to interview for chief nor have I decided on an acting chief as I am now working on the transition," Williams said.

Williams graduated from St. Rose Delma High School and spent three years in the U.S. Army. He was a driver in the 101st Airborne Division.

A large crowd was on hand Friday for the Annual Retired Senior Volunteer Program's (RSVP) Recognition Luncheon.

The event was held at the Bourgeois-Stieffel-Ray American Legion Home, Coleman Avenue, Waveland.

RSVP members donate many hours of their time each week to many of the various agencies in Hancock County.

We feel that each member of RSVP should be commended for their efforts and contributions to the community.

RSVP is one of the many agencies in Hancock County sponsored by the United Way.

We heard Stone County's Tomcats had more supporters in the stands Friday than Hancock North Central's Hawks.

It really appears there should have been many more Hawk supporters in the stands as the game was played at Hancock.

A good turnout can change the outcome of a game in many instances.

We hope the Hawks fans come to life and give their team the support they really need.

As many of our older residents know, there have been many recent changes in Medicare.

As a public service, Hancock General Hospital will conduct a seminar on Wednesday dealing with 'Medicare and how it works'.

The seminar is limited as to the number of participants, but we are sure that another session will be held if there is an overflow attendance.

If you have any questions about Medicare, this may be a good opportunity to get the answers. Just call 467-9081, extension 165, to register.

Communication revolution's impact to be on education

REVOLUTION IN COMMUNICATION

By C. James Haug
Department of History
Mississippi State University

Editor's Note: The following article is the result of a grant to the Mississippi Press Association by the Mississippi Committee for the Humanities. The opinions expressed are those of the author and not necessarily those of either organization.

We are on the eve of a revolution in communications, one that has the potential to transform dramatically all of our lives. This, like all true revolutions, will affect every aspect of human life from the ways we think to the means by which we earn our livings. Above all, the coming revolution will change the kinds of things a person must know in order to prosper.

Social revolutions are generally caused by developments in technology. For us in modern times perhaps the revolution with the greatest impact has been in the realm of communication. Consider for a moment just how isolated and ignorant man was before technological advances began to connect him to the world away from his doorstep.

Before the fifteenth century invention of printing, the ability to communicate with anyone other than a nearby listener was limited to a tiny group of professional scribes. All reading material was handwritten, and creating one copy of one book required hundreds of hours. Nineteen out of every 20 persons were illiterate, viewed writing as a total mystery, and knew nothing of the world beyond their villages except for accounts related by rare visitors.

With printing, for the first time, large numbers of people could communicate with those they could neither see nor hear. Increases in literacy meant that ideas could be quickly shared. Political and religious authorities found they could not limit their constituents' access to information. They were forced into new roles. Nation states arose as a new method of organizing society.

More recent revolutions in communication rose out of the development of mass transport. Until this century, physically moving from place to place was difficult.

With the introduction of railroads and automobiles, people could for the first time travel a significant distance from the home fire. For a small sum the traveller could in a few hours be in a great city or in another country. For our ancestors, whose notions of long-distance travel had been limited by the speed of a farm wagon, such travel was magic.

In the same way that printing brought people together through ideas, mechanical transportation brought them together physically.

The introduction of the telegraph, telephone, radio and television hastened change, bringing war into our living rooms and involving us intellectually or emotionally with such far away events as the plight of a missing child or the love life of panda bears.

Isolation was decreased, horizons expanded, and those who knew how to communicate with others in different cities or continents prospered beyond their wildest dreams.

We are now at the beginning of a fourth revolution in communication technology that has the potential to draw the others in terms of its effect on daily life.

Machines now can take information and use it to make decisions. High-tech devices perform increasingly sophisticated tasks.

The digital watch that once could only provide the time and date now gives its owner military time, lap time, accuracy to one hundredth of a second, and sound effects!

Indeed, the world of high technology is about to take a dramatic leap forward as more communicating power is put into smaller boxes.

Rural isolation will again diminish and, for all practical purposes, disappear.

Individuals will be part of a world-wide information network, and dealing with another person in Calcutta will be no more difficult or expensive than now working with one in Biloxi.

This revolution has many implications, but the greatest impact will be on education.

No longer will preparation for living in a single community be enough.

No longer will preparation for a specialized career be enough. The successful and prosperous will be those equipped with knowledge enabling them to deal with peoples from cultures different from their own.

Those with the broad perspective provided by knowledge of history, language, and literature will succeed in this world. Those with knowledge limited to one culture will be left behind.

The time to begin preparing our children for this world is upon us—if we fail, they will be the losers.

however, do not indicate serious physical problems and can be treated fairly easily.

Question: My neighbor's daughter tried to commit suicide by taking a bottle of Tylenol. In the emergency room, they pumped out her stomach and gave her Tagamet. I take Tagamet for a stomach ulcer and I've wondered if they got confused about what medicine to give.

Answer: No confusion here. Tagamet (generally called "Cimetidine") has only recently been found to prevent the severe liver damage caused by Tylenol (or any brand of acetaminophen) in an overdose.

Answer: Fortunately not. The headaches you describe are a problem we see a lot in patients who take medicines like sorbitrate which are called "nitrates".

The nitrates work by expanding the vessels in the brain. Often, all that is required is a reduction in the nitrate dosage to solve the problem but, if that doesn't work, there are two other types of chest pain medicines which may be better alternatives in your case. Your doctor will be able to make the appropriate changes to allow you to be completely pain free.

An interesting point is that the nitrates which are causing your problem also cause headaches for some people when used in their other role as a meat preservative. Hot dogs and bologna often are high in nitrates and cause headaches in people who eat them but most folks never make the connection.

Answer: No confusion here. Tagamet (generally called "Cimetidine") has only recently been found to prevent the severe liver damage caused by Tylenol (or any brand of acetaminophen) in an overdose.

Answer: Fortunately not. The headaches you describe are a problem we see a lot in patients who take medicines like sorbitrate which are called "nitrates".

The nitrates work by expanding the vessels in the brain. Often, all that is required is a reduction in the nitrate dosage to solve the problem but, if that doesn't work, there are two other types of chest pain medicines which may be better alternatives in your case. Your doctor will be able to make the appropriate changes to allow you to be completely pain free.

An interesting point is that the nitrates which are causing your problem also cause headaches for some people when used in their other role as a meat preservative. Hot dogs and bologna often are high in nitrates and

them but most folks never make the

Mabus offers help to county officials

By DENA BISNETTE

State Auditor Ray Mabus told Hancock County elected officials Thursday that he was meeting with them to offer help, but was unable to answer some of the questions the supervisors asked him.

Mabus offered Hancock County assistance from his department's new technical assistance division, a recently hired computer expert and an investigator.

"I'd rather help good officials catch a few bad ones," Mabus explained. "My job is to make sure that tax money is being spent in accordance with the law."

He stressed the importance of having officials realize that a county is not necessarily being accused of any wrongdoing if his auditors look into its records.

"The only people that we conduct investigations of and sue for recovery are people who intentionally misuse public funds," he explained.

"If you make an honest mistake, if you've done something in good faith, we'll try to help you. We'll try to change the system to help keep the same thing from happening again," Mabus told the officials.

Mabus accepted questions from county officials on subjects ranging from culverts to school bus turnarounds, but deferred answers on several of them until he and his assistants have done further research.

One of the problems with assisting the counties on some questions Mabus has is, in his words, "lack of uniform legislation."

Mabus also said some questions he receives are on legal matters that should be referred to the attorney general's office, and said his office would make such referrals.

Mabus said the problem of inconsistent laws is especially apparent when spending road and bridge funds on recreational facilities is questioned. According to Mabus, numerous counties have had local and private bills passed that allow such spending.

Others may not use road and bridge funds for recreation, and Mabus wants the legislature to set specific guidelines in that area.

He urged the county officials to support his efforts to put together a legislative package that addresses the recreation question and similar problems.

Cats down Hawks, 21-0

BY RANDY PONDER

Hancock North Central just couldn't seem to get its' act together as the visiting Stone County Tomcats, 2-1, dealt the Hawks their third straight loss, 21-0.

Hancock won the toss and elected to kick to start the contest, played on a wet, windy field under threatening skies in front of very few local spectators. The visitors bleachers were filled to capacity.

Following an exchange of punts, the Hawks, caged near their goal line facing a fourth and two, prepared to punt the ball back to Stone. The snap from center sailed over the kicker's head and rolled into the endzone. Tompey Lawler saved a touchdown by picking up the loose ball and running out of bounds.

The two points proved to be all the Tomcats would need.

Stone could not advance after receiving the free kick and booted the ball to Hancock.

Several plays later, the Hawks were forced to punt from their endzone.

Darryl Tillman made a running catch at the Hawk 30, cut straight across field to the right sideline and simply outran everyone to the goal line, giving Stone a quick touchdown. A two point conversion attempt failed, leaving the Tomcats on top 8-0.

Hancock had an excellent opportunity to dent the score board before halftime when Frank Ladner intercepted a Tomcat pass on the Stone 45 with 50 seconds left.

Following an incomplete pass, Hawk quarterback Melton Lewis found Walter Acker for four yards. A third down pass was wide of the mark, bringing up a four and six with 20 seconds remaining.

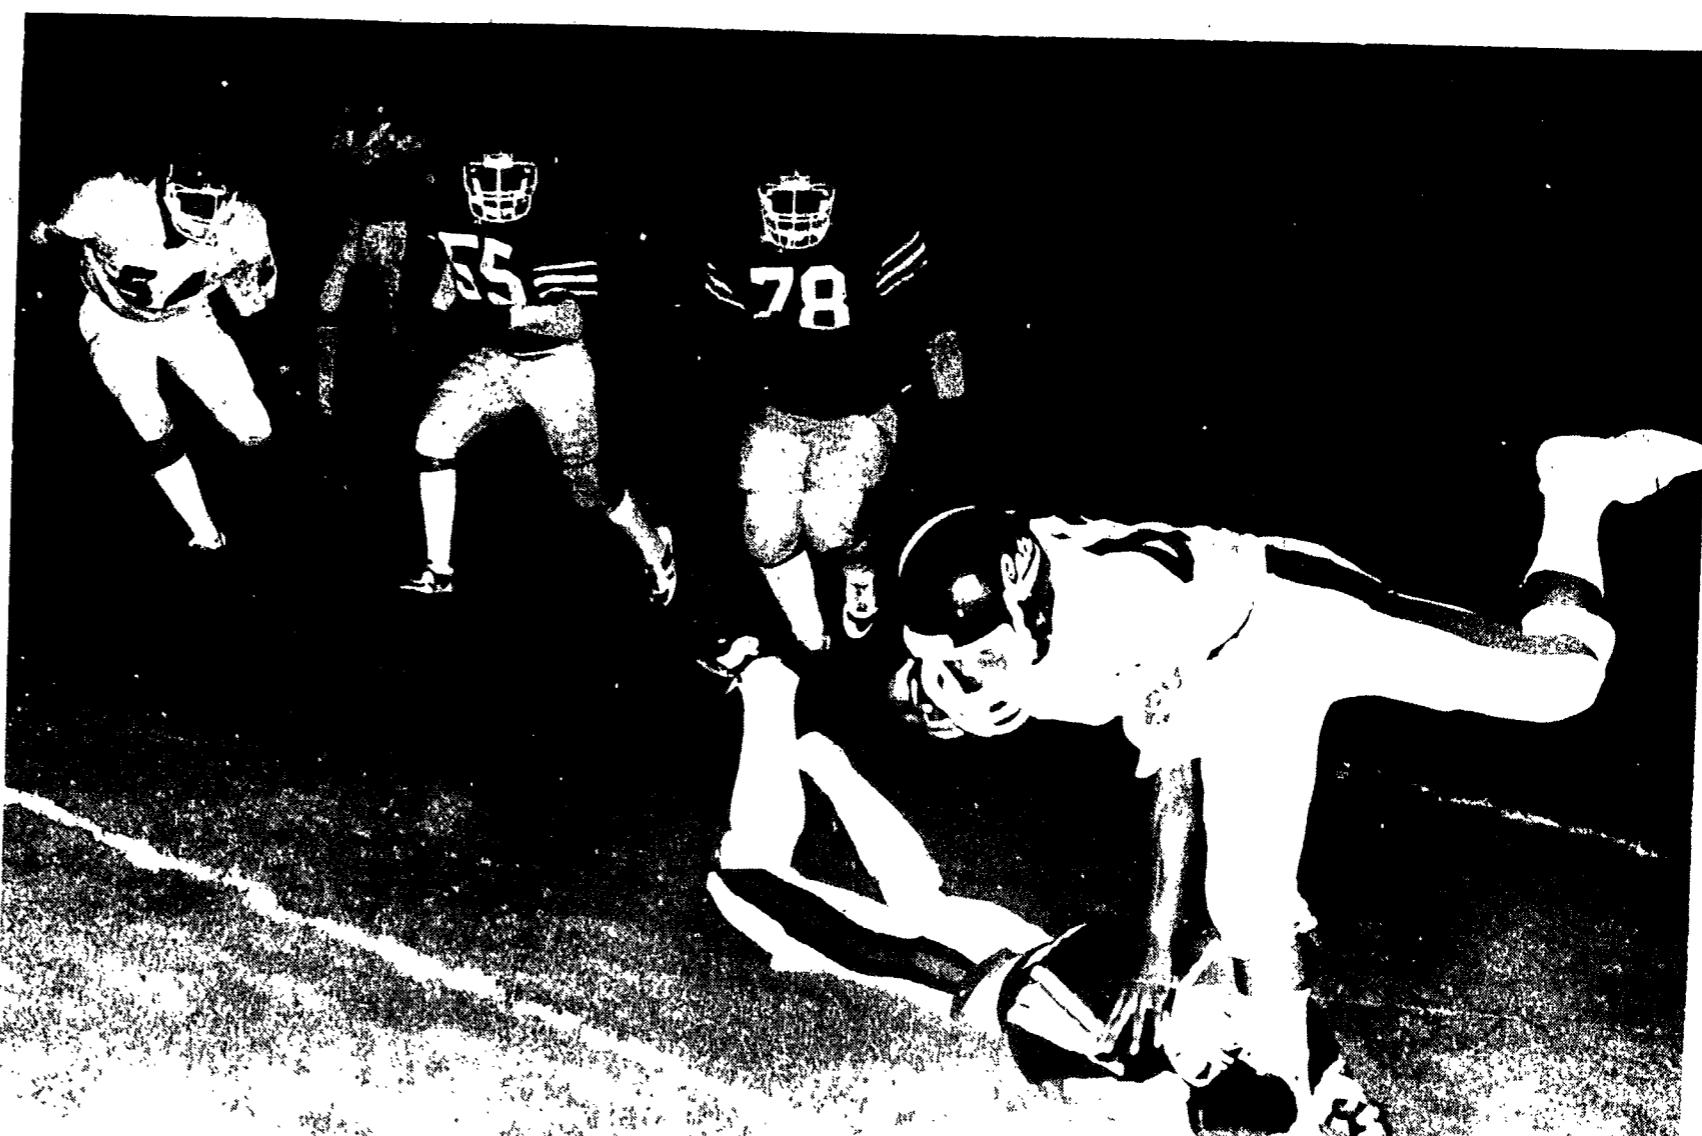

A wide open Tony Guidy then broke thru the middle of the line on the final play and raced towards the endzone, but under heavy pressure, Lewis' pass was overthrown.

Hancock again had to kick to start the second half and Stone scored on that possession. Quarterback Stevon Moore got the points on a 61 yard keeper, weaving his way thru the Hancock defenders. A two point conversion attempt was well defended by the Hawks, holding the Tomcats to a 14-0 advantage.

Stone added another TD when tailback Steve Hartfield bulled his way into pay dirt from four yards out. James King split the uprights on his first conversion attempt as the Tomcats built a commanding 21 point cushion.

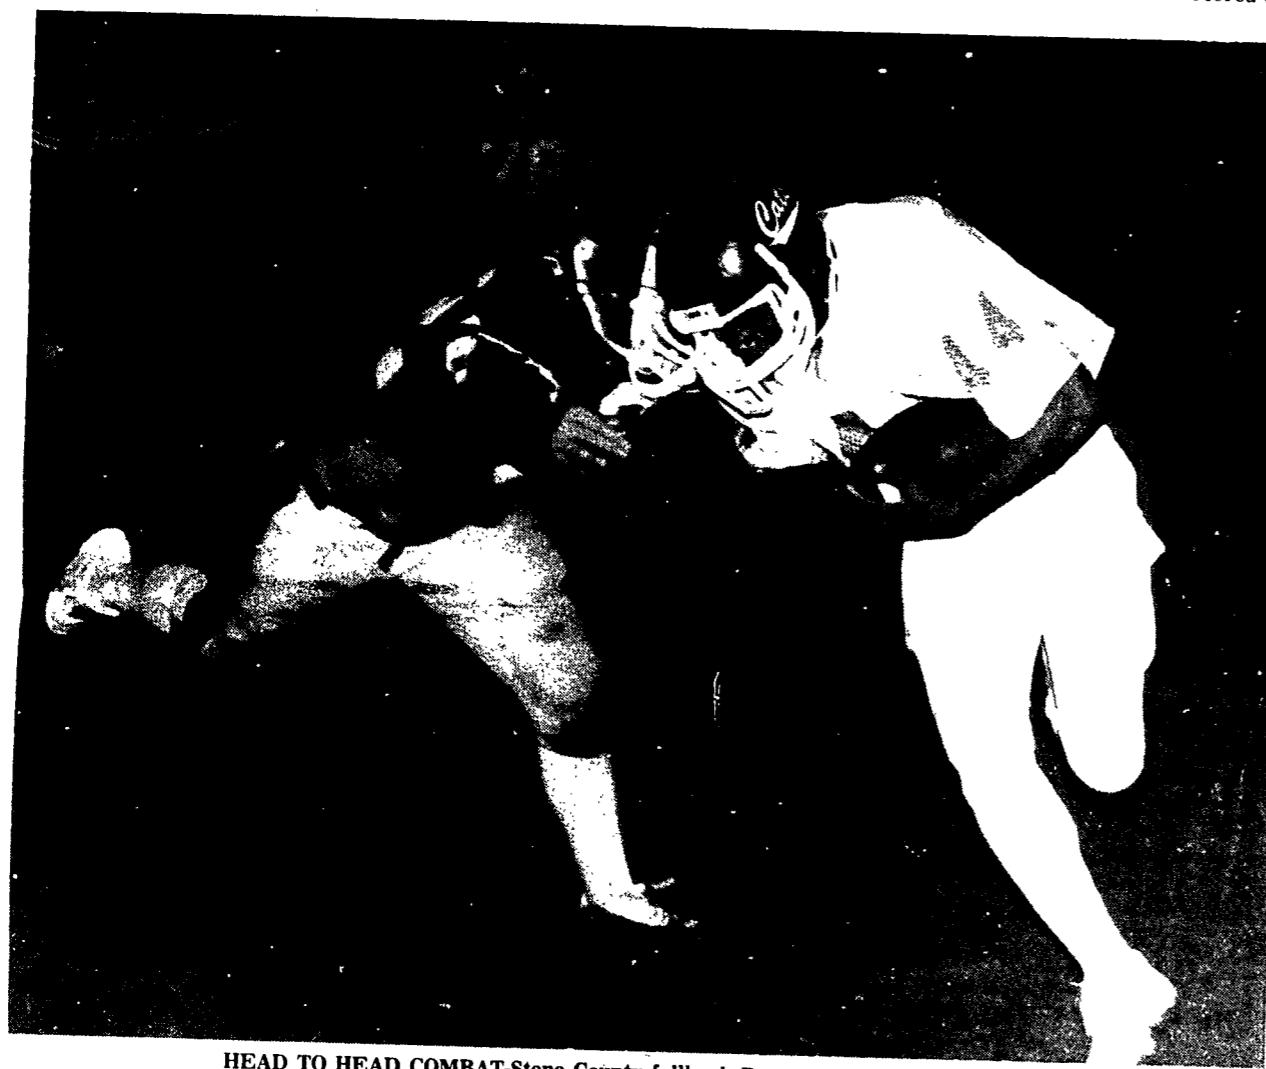

The fourth quarter was a defensive struggle as Stone cleared it bench.

Hancock, 0-3, will host the Pass Christian Pirates, 2-1, next Friday night at Hawk Stadium. Kick-off is slated for 7:30p.m.

Pirates clip Yellow Jackets

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Pirates of Pass Christian showed a strong defensive effort in defeating St. Martin's Yellow Jackets 24-0 in high school football action Friday.

Irv Hall set up the first Pirate score when he intercepted a pass, giving the ball to Pass Christian on St. Martin's 25-yard line.

Several plays later, Otis Gates kicked a 25-yard field goal when the Pirates had a fourth down on St. Martin's 8-yard line.

This score added to three touchdowns and Otis' three conversions gave the Pirates a shutout by the score of 24-0 over the Yellow Jackets.

Alton Wright said after the victory, "We played a tremendous defensive game in addition to moving the ball well on offense. We cut down on many of the mistakes we made in the first two games."

"To me our team gave us a little more than I expected; I thought St. Martin was stronger on running than their films showed us. I know we have good players and they are developing into a very good team," Wright said.

The only area of disappointment in the Pirates play according to Wright were the 11 penalties for 97 yards.

The second score came for Pass Christian on a long drive mixed with running and pass plays. The drive included two passes from quarterback Joey Rogers to Hall and a trap good for 30 yards by Omar Saahir before Rogers moved in on a 1-yard run.

Gates' PAT made the score 10-0 for the Pirates, which they held until the fourth quarter.

One of St. Martin's threats was stopped when their ball carrier was caught from behind by John Dedeaux of the Pirates.

The Pirates' second touchdown came on a long drive which included passes from Rogers to Mark Boyd, Tony Howell, and Gates. Saahir capped the drive with a 2-yard run.

The final Pirate scoring occurred when Winston Ausmer blocked a punt and picked up the ball and ran in for a 20-yard score.

Ausmer, who is a little light according to Coach Wright, plays nose guard and linebacker on defense as well as tailback on offense, and is described as being real quick.

Gates' kick was perfect for the PAT giving the Pirates a 24-0 victory.

Wright said his squad has increased from 28 in the beginning of the season to 36. I have left several sophomores join the squad.

"I think we played everyone against St. Martin. Some may have been in for a few plays, but they got to see action," Wright stated.

The head coach, who is in first year, continued, "I know some players like to play only one position and that is not possible with a small squad. We have some key people and we play them where we think they can best help the squad."

"This also gives more players an opportunity to play, as I think every member of a team should see some action, even if it is only a few plays," Wright added.

Bay Jr. High wins over Pearl River

By DENA BISNETTE

Bay St. Louis Junior High improved its season record to 2-1 with a 38-14 win over Pearl River Central Thursday night.

Bay running back Glen Rose scored three touchdowns for the Tigers, including one on a 10-yard run in the first quarter, according to Head Coach Gary Blaize.

Rose also scored on a one-yard run during the second quarter and on a 30-yard run in the fourth quarter.

Brian Laneaux also had a good night for the Tigers, scoring a touchdown on an 85-yard run early in the third quarter. His second touchdown of the night was scored on a 50-yard punt return.

Laneaux was also credited with four more points earned on two-point conversions.

The remaining two points for the Tigers were scored with passing plays from Chad LaFontaine to Lance Bell and from Doug Rhodes to Tim Allen.

Tigers lose 27-13 to Pearl River

By DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis High School Tigers lost to the Pearl River Central Blue Devils 27-13 Friday despite a strong team effort and a good first half.

Head Coach Cleveland Williams said he was pleased with his team's effort and felt that the Tigers turned in an especially good first half.

"Those kids played their hearts out," he said. "We tried a strategy that was altogether different from last week's and the whole team played an outstanding game," he said after the game.

The Tigers played most of the first half under a rain shower and emerged only a point behind at the end of the second quarter.

Bay High's first scoring play came on a 15-yard run by quarterback Jeffrey Smith with 5:44 left in the first quarter. Jerry Head followed up with a good extra point kick, giving the Tigers a 7-6 lead.

Pearl River got the lead back early in the second quarter with a touchdown and a two-point conversion.

The Tigers took revenge when Smith intercepted a Pearl River pass and carried it 32 yards for a touchdown. However, an attempt to tie the score failed when an extra point kick attempt proved unsuccessful.

The score stood 14-13 for Pearl River at the half.

In the third quarter, Bay High got within two feet of the goal line but lost some ground when an official made an "improper equipment" call against the Tigers. A pass play that followed was incomplete and the Tigers had to return the ball to Pearl River.

"We should have had a touchdown there," said Williams, who said he "had problems with the officiating."

He also said the Tiger offense was hurt by an interception which started a series resulting in a Pearl River touchdown. Bay High's defensive team held Pearl River to two touchdowns and a PAT during the second half and kept the Blue Devils from scoring during most of the fourth quarter.

On offense, Bay High went airborne for 172 yards passing and gained 116 yards rushing, which included 56 yards on a single run by Trace McRaney.

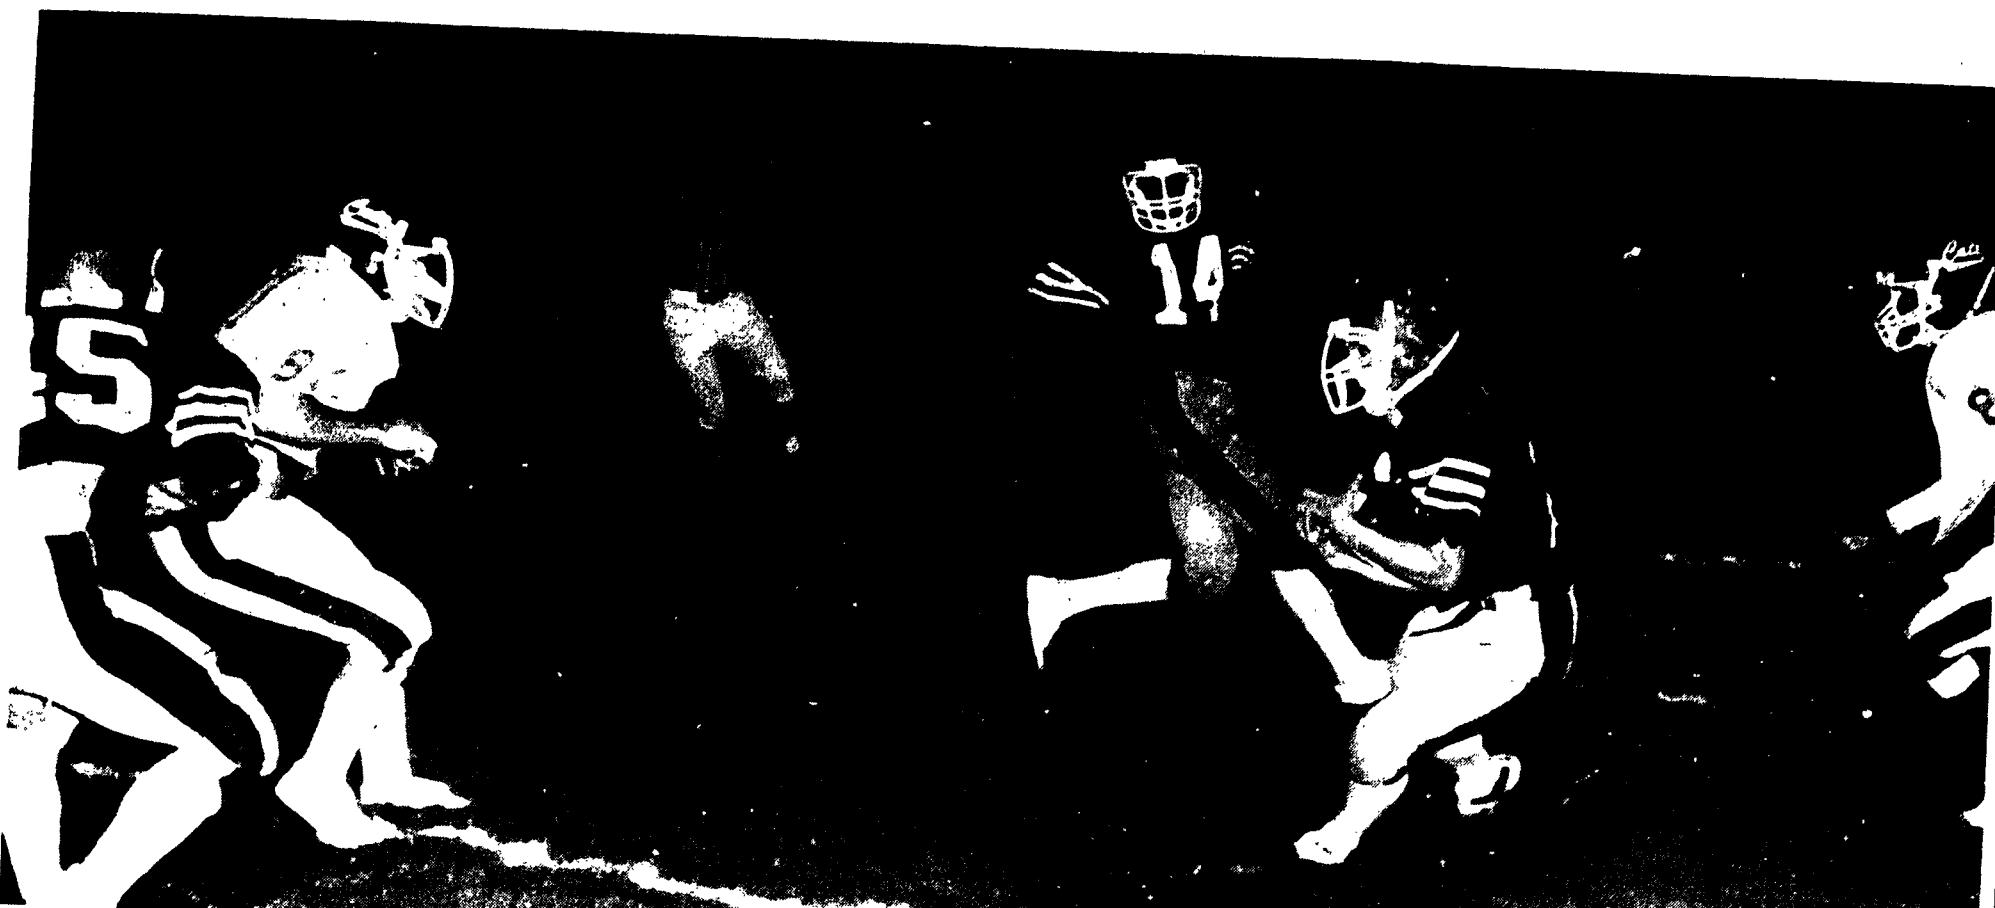

Next week, the Tigers return to their home field to play against Vancleave.

St. Stanislaus and Mercy Cross Saturday night's results will be in Thursday's edition.

News Brief

TIGER SNAKE

A single drop of Australian tiger snake venom contains enough poison to kill 25 people, reports "National Wildlife" magazine. Fortunately, this medium-sized snake normally uses its toxin only to kill small frogs.

Williams

When Williams joined the department, its headquarters were at the old fire station on Ulman Avenue. The old station was later moved to a room next to the fire station in the Valenea C. Jones Complex prior to its present location.

Williams listed the following achievements for the Bay police department under his leadership:

—Office headquarters moved from one room to a complete department which includes a captain of patrol, two investigators, clerk of court, photo lab, secure evidence room, full time secretary, and five trained dispatchers. —Five unit motor pool increased to eleven units.

—A personnel increase from seven officers to twelve.

—Higher standards for police officers requiring a high school diploma or equivalent, and requirement of attendance at a Police Academy within first year.

—And numerous in-house training sessions for officers.

The achievements were only possible through the help of the leaders and citizens, Williams said.

Bennett said he and Chief Williams had been through some rough and good times during the eight years they have been working together.

Bennett added that Williams will retire with a lifetime commission as a police officer of Bay St. Louis.

"This is not an auxiliary commission or honorary commission. He will have full powers of any police officer," Bennett stated.

During his retirement announcement, Williams said that he was going to do some of those things he always wanted to do, but had never had time.

"One thing I will not do is hunt, as I had my share of time 'in the woods' with 26 years of paper wood cutting," Williams said.

When asked if he had any close calls, the retiring chief recalled, "I had a man pull a gun and point it in my face on Green Meadow Road one time. I was shot at several times when someone was shooting at random near Felicity Street."

Williams said he believes he was the first black chief of police for a biracial city in the state of Mississippi.

Police Captain Robert Butler said he checked the records and said indications are that Williams was the first black chief of police in a biracial community in the United States.

school and junior high is estimated at $900,000. The improvements would include new covered walks and bus loading facilities, a new gym lobby, additional restrooms and concession space in the gym.

Other renovations proposed include a library addition; alterations to the cafeteria, home economics rooms, junior high office and several classrooms; and installation of aluminum seats and lighting at the football stadium.

Randolph said the proposals are expected to allow the district to handle "several hundred more students," and would correct a 10-year-old over-crowding problem as well as anticipate future growth.

Randolph said he does not know yet when the board plans to present the proposal to the general public.

Swartzendruber—Doussan

Cheri Ann Doussan and Kris Swartzendruber, both of Bay St. Louis, exchanged wedding vows September 6 in a 4:30 p.m. ceremony in First Methodist Church in Baton Rouge, La. The Rev. Stanley B. Landrum officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney J. Doussan of Bay St. Louis. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Swartzendruber, also of Bay St. Louis.

The bride chose for her wedding an off-white street length dress, and carried a bouquet of pale pink roses and baby's breath with pink satin streamers. The groom's sister, Sue Ann Connerly of Baton Rouge, hosted a dinner in her home following the ceremony. On return from a wedding trip to Dallas, Tex., the couple will reside in Oklahoma City, Okla.

MR. AND MRS. KRIS SWARTZENDRUBER

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church was the setting for the September 1 marriage of Michelle Marie Browning and Jeffrey Joseph Morel. The Rev. Henry McInerney officiated at the double ring afternoon ceremony.

Large vases of white gladioli, chrysanthemum, lavender freesia and lavender and white baby's breath adorned the main alter, while two standing baskets of white gladioli, chrysanthemums, lavender orchids and fern with large lavender satin bows flanked the alter. White satin bows marked the family pews.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Browning of Bay St. Louis. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Theodore C. Morel, also of Bay St. Louis.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Olive McKenna, organist, and Mrs. Rose Ann Thomas, soloist. Scripture readings were rendered by Theodore Morel, father of the groom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of chiffon and satin over satapeau. The fitted bodice featured a high neckline and sheer yoke of Schiffli embroidered English net.

Beaded Alencon lace overlaid the bodice and accented the chiffon puffed sleeves. The softly flowing skirt was edged with a wide border of satin and lace and extended to chapel length. Her veil of silk illusion was bordered with Alencon lace and held in place by a beaded lace caplet.

She wore diamond and pearl earrings, a gift from the groom, and carried a bouquet of white silk roses, lavender sweetheart roses, white orchid tweedia, baby smile and seed pearls with picot ribbon and lace.

Mrs. Ann Marie Wainwright of Waveland, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a lavender gown with asymmetrically tiered chiffon bodice. The flared skirt was tied at the waistline.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Myrna Steen and Tiffany Steen of Kiln, cousins of the groom; and Rebecca Browning of Jacksonville, Fla., cousin of the bride.

They wore dresses of sheer lavender polyester over taffeta, each with ruffled neckline and satin ribbon trim. The full skirts were finished with ribbon-trimmed ruffled flounces which extended up the back of the dresses.

The attendants wore white gloves and carried nosegays of lavender silk diamond roses, sweetheart roses, baby smile, tweedia, and lavender ribbon and lace. They wore hair ornaments of lavender baby smile, sweetheart roses and jubilee gyp.

Flower girls were Danielle Marie Wainwright and Mary Elizabeth Wainwright of Waveland, and Chanda Browning of Jacksonville, Fla., nieces of the bride.

Theodore C. Morel of Bay St. Louis served his son as best man.

Groomsmen were H. Steven Hansen and Kirk A. Bourgeois of Bay St. Louis and David Robert Browning of Jacksonville, Fla., brother of the bride.

Michael D. Wainwright of Waveland, brother-in-law of the bride, was usher.

S. Joseph Wainwright of Waveland, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Mrs. Browning chose for her daughter's wedding a Schiffli lace trimmed gown of mauve polyester georgette with satin ribbon closure at the back neckline and satin sash. The front and back featured surprise bodice. The mother of the groom was attired in a two piece rose colored gown of chiffon over taffeta. The pullover jacket was accented with chantilly lace on the bodice and peplum waistline with satin sash. A lace bordered finished the hemline of the flared skirt. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

A reception followed the ceremony at Virginia Hall, Christ Episcopal.

On return from a wedding trip along the Gulf Coast, the couple will reside in Bay St. Louis.

Pre-nuptial Parties

Ann Wainwright, matron of honor and sister of the bride, hosted a miscellaneous shower on July 24 for the bride. The shower was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Browning.

Myrna and Tiffany Steen, cousins of the groom, hosted a surprise miscellaneous shower at their home in Kiln of August 4.

After the rehearsal, on the eve of the wedding, the groom's parents hosted a champagne supper which was held at the Bay St. Louis American Legion Home. Guests included members of the wedding party, close relatives and out-of-town guests.

NATURE RETURNS

"Nature," the acclaimed series of natural history films, returns to Mississippi ETV for its third season at 7 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 30. The new season will include 18 new films plus rebroadcasts of 18 films from the series' first and second seasons.

"Krakatoa: The Day That Shook the World" on Sept. 30 examines the reasons for the volcano's violent eruptions 100 years ago and the resulting consequences to the wildlife indigenous to the area.

Located in the Strait of Sundra, halfway between Sumatra and Java, Krakatoa erupted in a series of explosions, the most violent and devastating of which took place on Aug. 27, 1883.

The climatic blast propelled ash 50 miles into the stratosphere, causing total darkness in the surrounding region for almost three days and destroyed the northern part of the island, blowing a hole in the ocean floor 1,100 feet deep and more than six miles wide. The aftermath swelled tides to a height of 130 feet, washing inland as much as five miles, killing 36,000 people in its wake.

The next two films in the "Nature" series will cover wildlife around the Arabian Gulf and also the process of pollination.

Carbohydrate foods are good for people.

Here are some of the reasons why: Carbohydrate foods provide an efficient source of energy essential for functioning of the muscles, brain and nerves and for good utilization of other nutrients in the body. They act as carriers of many essential nutrients, including vitamins and minerals.

Carbohydrate foods such as fruits, vegetables and whole grain products are good to excellent sources of dietary fiber. As an inexpensive source of protein, they offer menu variety. They also add to the psychological satisfaction of eating.

Think for a moment what eating would be like without—plump, juicy fruits—crisp, bright vegetables—the nutty crunch of breads and cereals or the sweet goodness of dairy products. Without such varied foods, mealtime would be mighty boring.

About the tale that carbohydrate foods are necessarily fattening—it's just not true! In fact, carbohydrates contribute the same number of calories (energy) as protein—four calories per gram. By contrast, fat contains over twice as many calories—nine calories per gram.

Weight gain results not from a certain kind of food, but rather from consuming more calories than the body uses for energy. These extra calories can come from bread, fried foods, milk or any other food. As a matter of fact, research indicates that obese people do not necessarily eat excessive amounts of carbohydrate foods. They do, however, often eat more fat than people of normal weight.

If a nagging concern about the calories of carbohydrates is still an issue, just take a look at the calories in a recommended serving of some favorite foods. One cup of cooked pasta (macaroni) has 200 calories. One and one-fourth cups of oat cereal with one half cup of two-percent milk supplies 170 calories. One medium ear of corn has 85 calories while one medium baked potato has 75 and one slice of white bread gives 76 calories.

The name itself indicates the chemical elements of carbohydrates—carbo (carbon) and hydrate (water). Furthermore, there are two categories of carbohydrates; simple and complex.

Simple carbohydrates include the sugars found naturally in dairy products, fruits and vegetables. Other simple carbohydrate foods are the sweeteners, such as honey, molasses and the well-known sugars, including white, brown and powdered.

Complex carbohydrates are, technically, many simple carbohydrates joined together naturally within plants as they grow. They form the starches of vegetables and grain products as well as the fiber of many fruits, vegetables, legumes and whole grain products.

Foods such as dried beans, peas, rice, oats, wheat, potatoes and others are good sources of complex carbohydrates because they are the seeds or roots where plants store energy to be used for growth. This makes carbohydrate foods an economical source of energy.

These plant foods also carry a wide variety of nutrients: whole grain and fortified cereals from oats, rice, wheat or corn, and enriched breads contribute essential B vitamins and minerals, including thiamin, riboflavin, niacin, iron and zinc. These aid normal functioning of digestion, nerves and energy use within the body.

Carbohydrate-containing fruits, vegetables and fortified cereals are the principal sources of vitamin C—citrus fruits, tomatoes, broccoli and cantaloupe. Sweet potatoes are a good source of vitamin A, essential for good vision—so are carrots, yellow squash and dark green vegetables.

Wheat flour and cereal products also account for 17 percent of the protein in the U.S. diet. As an added benefit, carbohydrate foods in general are low in fat, with the exception of foods such as nuts and whole fat dairy products. Also, carbohydrate foods, except for dairy products, contain no cholesterol.

Another exclusive quality of carbohydrate foods from plants is that they contribute dietary fiber. People enjoy the benefits of fiber when they eat delicious whole grain breads and cereals as well as wholesome bran cereals made from oats, corn and wheat. In addition to bringing marvelous color, texture and flavor to meals, many vegetables also provide dietary fiber. Examples are carrots, fresh peas, potatoes, broccoli, spinach, dried beans, cabbage and brussel sprouts.

SPECIAL AWARD—Louise McCreary was awarded a plaque by the Pere le Duc Council No. 1522 at its installation banquet by the Most Reverend Bishop Joseph Lawson Howze of the Biloxi Diocese. The Plaque reads "For Humanitarian Service to the youth of Hancock County from Pere le Duc Council No. 1522 Knights of Columbus". Mrs. McCreary spearheaded the drive to raise money for the Hancock North Central Band to go to the World's Fair on Aug. 20. (Photo by Bob Hubbard)

State Fair prepares for fiddler's contest

Some of the best country and bluegrass music can be heard at the Mississippi Fair Southern Championship Fiddler's Contest on Saturday, Oct. 6.

The annual affair, which will start at 10 a.m., will be sponsored by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce and the Fair Commission. Almost $3,000 in cash prizes will be awarded.

There will be four age group categories in fiddling. They are: I, ages 20-21; II, ages 21 to 39; III, ages 40 to 64; and IV, ages 65 and over. The top prize for the winner in each category will be $100.

The four category winners will proceed to a play-off, and the winner will receive an additional $100. Five prizes will be given in each category.

Contests also will be held in bluegrass banjo, harmonica and string band. A liar's contest also will be on the agenda, with three awards going to the persons who tell the biggest lies.

For further information concerning how to enter the contests, contact Sheila Walters of the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce at 354-6581, or write her at the Mississippi State Fair Fiddler's Contest, P.O. Box 5307, Fondren Station, Jackson, MS. 39206.

Friendship Oak DAR

Three delegates from the Friendship Oak Chapter National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution attended a tea and fashion parade in Laurel on Tuesday evening, Sept. 18. The affair was sponsored by the Nahoula Chapter of Laurel and given in the Lauren Rogers Museum of Art.

Attending were Mrs. Philip Davenport, regent of the Friendship Oak Chapter together with Mrs. Nunez C. Pilet, Constitution Week Chairman, both of Bay St. Louis, and Mrs. Ruth Holley of Long Beach.

Following the tea Mrs. Richard Denny Shelby, honorary President General, NSDAR, narrated the Parade of Historic Fashions. Costumes were from the DAR Museum in Washington, D.C. and models were drawn from members of the Nahoula Chapter.

In addition to representatives of the Coastal Plains, the function was attended by several groups of scouts, as well as museum patrons.
